Grant News:

'Tis sign-up season for interested grant review volunteers. All current Impact100 members for the 2021-22 year are eligible to sign up. There's no better way to learn about community needs and our area nonprofits!

"As a past grant chair, I can tell you that our grant volunteers bring curiosity, intelligence, and a willingness to learn to every discussion. They take their roles very seriously since they want to put excellent grant applicants in front of their fellow members at June's Annual Awards Celebration."

- Anne Schumaker, Grant Co-Director

An email went out to current members on Nov. 15 describing sign-up steps & virtual meeting dates for each of the five grant committees. You may indicate your preferred two committee choices and complete the required conflict-of-interest form online. Sign-up closes Jan. 3 or when a given committee reaches its 25-member limit.

Haven't joined or renewed yet? You'll receive the email with sign-up instructions within a week of doing so.

Even more Grant news! Time's running short for your favorite nonprofit to submit an initial letter of inquiry for the grant process. LOI's are due by noon on Dec. 3! Send prospective applicants to our website where they'll find eligibility requirements, FAQ's, and more. Or share our recorded Nonprofit Information Session with them.

Keynote Susan Dreyfus on Reimagining Our Impact at Global Day of Impact Luncheon

Our Impact100 Global Day of Impact luncheon on Nov. 4th was a success from start to finish. Members and guests joined in person at the Wisconsin Club's Country Club and by livestream to celebrate 20 years of the now-international Impact100 movement and our own 6 1/2 years of success in the Greater Milwaukee area.

A highlight was the engaging, thought-provoking keynote from Susan Dreyfus. A Waukesha resident, Dreyfus drew from her experience leading health and social service agencies for the states of Wisconsin and Washington and urged us to continually reimagine how to use our influence and collective funds to benefit the communities we care about.

Impact100? Email info@impact100mke.org if you're interested in calling to welcome new members or want to help set up and run Zoom meetings.

Have a background in finance, banking or accounting? We are looking for a Financial Review liaison for the Family Grant Committee. In this role, you'll help to evaluate and convey information about nonprofit applicants' financial statements and budgets to other committee members. Training provided. Contact Julie Beres at jberes3@wi.rr.com to learn more.

We were joined for lunch by many of our nonprofit partners from over the years. Thank you to our generous members whose sponsorship allowed us to give free seats to these folks! They had some great feedback and added to our post-keynote Q&A session.
